The music made their hearts beat as in the stirring times of thirty years ago and brought the flush of patriotism and courage to their cheeks. A Rally at Richland.

The Republican county central committee has completed arrangements for a big all day rally and picnic to be held at Richland next Tuesday, September 18th. The speakers announced are Major J. K. Hudson and Gen. J. C. Caldwell. Charley McCabe's drum corps and the McNary quartette will furnish the music.

The musical Illustrated lecture on "Jesus of Nazareth," given at the M. E. church last Saturday evening by Ethyl Frances Baker, of Topeka, assisted by the Misses Schmitz and Fairfield, was the best thing of the kind that ever came to Alma. The lady is a pleasant speaker and portrayed the life of Christ in a manner that won the hearts of all, while the stereopticon views given by R. H. Baker were the best ever seen here. The "Holy City," as sung by Miss Schmitz, and also a solo by Miss Fairfield, completely captured the audience, and the duets sung by them, especially "Rock of Ages," were among the most enjoyable parts of the evening sentertainment. On Tuesday evening Mrs. Baker gave "Ober Ammergau" and its passion play.—Alma Enterprise.

NERVY WOMEN

Arm Themselves With Shovels and Drive Away Workmen.

A Lively Fight at Setauket, Long Island.

NAMING OF A STREET

Causes the Row-Women Want It Called "Bayview."

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Setauket, the pretty little village of Long Island, was the scene of a little fight between a number of prominent men and women of the place. The women, armed with shovels, won a temporary victory, and the high-way commissioners will be on hand today to settle the difficulty.

The trouble arose over the naming of Bayview, or Hand avenue, a short street running from the Main street to the bay. N. Hand, a wealthy retired ship builder, wants the street to bear his name. His neighbors are in favor of having the street named Bayview. On several oc-casions Mr. Hand erected signs with the name "Hand avenue" on the street. No sooner were they put up than they were taken away by the indignant residents. A short time ago an iron post having Hand's name cut on it, was sawed off at night and carried away. Several weeks later Mr. Hand had iron signs cast with Hand avenue in big letters on the cross piece. The signs arrived yesterday and Mr. Hand's workmen began to put them up. Each one weighed half a ton and required half a dozen men to handle it. A gang of laborers had dug the holes and were ready to set the posts in position, when a band of women with sleeves rolled up and shovels in hand appeared. The women spread over the street and part of them began to fill up the holes dug by Hand's workmen, while the balance kept the men at buy with their shovels. Dirt and stones flew in every direction. No sooner would one woman be driven from her work than she was reinforced by three or four companions, until the hole was filled up. The women persisted in the fight for hulf an hour.

Finally their adversaries threw down their spades and left them in charge of the field. After all the holes had been excelled in other cities, they had never seen decorations on such a generous and general scale. Hardly a dwelling, no matter how poor, or how far from the church of the deceased, two from his lodge and two from his departing ment in the shops where he had spent women are fully determined they shall not. The fight is likely to be renewed
